LARGE SALES .- The sale of tickets to the first grand concert to be given this evening, by the Musical Institute of this city, commenced yesterday morning at 91 o'clock, and in one hour fully two hundred had been disposed of. Purchasers kept dropping in during the day, so that by evening the sales had reached higher numbers than on any similar occasion for years. There are still very eligible seats to be sold, and we would advise an early call this morning. The price to all parts of the house has been fixed at fifty cents, bringing the concert within the means of all. It is intended to make these en tertaisments popular; hence the low rate of admission.
